Head of Ostermann Company Issued Orders for Swindle, He Declares.

Had O.K. Stamp of Illinois Central Inspectors and Approved Bills.

"Get as Much as Possible," Is Alleged Order of Chief of Concern.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO. Aug. 31.—Francis H. Polly, formerly chief clerk for the Ostermann Manufacturing Company, was the chief witness for the prosecution today in the hearing of the conspiracy charges against Frank P. Harrington, John M. Taylor and C. L. Ewing, in connection with the Illinois Central car repair frauds.

Polly's testimony was as sensational as that given on Monday and Tuesday by Thophilus Reuter and Fred C. Barnett, also former employees of the Ostermann concern.

Polly's connection with the Ostermann company, he said, covered the years 1907, 1908 and 1909, during which he declared that from 55 to 300 and 150 per cent was added to all Illinois Central repair bills. He stated further that he and other employees of the Ostermann concern had access to the "O. K." stamp used by the railroad's car inspectors, and that he frequently thus stamped bills to be presented to the railroad for payment.

NAMES OSTERMANN.

"Did the Ostermann company ever depart from the car inspector's records in submitting repair bills to the railroad?" asked Attorney Walter L. Fisher, for the prosecution.

"Under whose orders?"

"Henry C. Ostermann's," replied Polly.

"What were the orders given?"

"To get as much on the cars as we could."

"What was the average amount of the bills?"

"They varied from $200 to $400 a car."

"Who gave instructions as to the change of average?"

"Ostemann. In 1908 it was $325; and in 1909, it was $375."

"Where there are records in the office of the company, whereby the actual work done on the cars was shown?"

"Yes," replied Polly, "but they were never referred to."

Polly was shown a memorandum

SHINING MARK. CHOATE IS ACCUSED.

Former Client Seeks His Expulsion.

Files Formal Charges Against ex-Ambassador With Bar Association.

Declares He Has Been Guilty of Violation of Ethics of Profession.

Betrayed Confidence of Clients Is Another Serious Allegation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHATTANOOGA (Tenn.) Aug. 31.—Lawyers attending the American Bar Association meeting here were astonished at the publication in an afternoon paper of the report that sensational charges had been preferred in the association against Joseph H. Choate, of New York, former Ambassador to Great Britain.

All agree the charges have been made at least twice before in meetings of the association, but most of the delegates were in ignorance of their presentation at today's session.

George W. Chamlee of Tennessee, on the floor of the convention today, announced he had a petition to offer. President Libbey replied that the petition would be received.

This petition, which was received without being read in the convention contained the charges against Mr. Choate, prepared by James R. Watts of New York.

The charges have not been presented to the Grievance Committee, in fact the Grievance Committee has had no meetings here as there were no grievances to come before them.

But two members of the committee are present, and they have heard nothing of the alleged charges. The member present was Fred Lehmann of St. Louis, and George F. Beck of California.

President Libbey was asked tonight for a statement in regard to the matter. He replied:

"There is no reason for me to discuss this affair, as there is no such question before the convention."

Had the charges been referred to the Grievance Committee, no action could have been taken within the year.

The charges are that Mr. Choate has violated the confidence of his clients, James R. Watts and wife; that he violated canon of ethics of the American Bar Association, has been guilty of use of corporal punishment in his office.

Mr. Choate has been a member of the American Bar Association, has been guilty of use of corporal punishment in his office.

Kansas Makes Festival of the Visit of Col. Roosevelt.

CHARACTER IS ESSENTIAL—T.R.

Roosevelt Talks to Kansas School Children.

Points Out Duty of Citizens to the State.

Early Qualities Typify Good Soldiers, He Says.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

LAWRENCE (Kan.), Aug. 31.—The education of a drinking fountain, provided by the Humane Society in the center of this town, was timed for the arrival of Col. Roosevelt here to dine with Gov. Stubbs.

Drawn up in picturesque form were hundreds of little children, all attired in white garments, with big sunflowers prominently displayed.

Col. Roosevelt, speaking from a stand erected for the occasion, talked to the children of the kindness and gentleness that should characterize their treatment of all animals. Cruelty to dumb creatures, he said, was next to cruelty to humans.

TRIBUTE TO EDUCATION. Referring to the State University, located here, he paid a glowing tribute to the value of education, especially that providing for the practical affairs of life.

"But, after all," he said, "the most important is to have the right kind of men."

The colonel was frequently applauded by the large assemblage of men and women.

"If you have no character," he said, "you cannot have good citizenship. The stronger a man is, and the better he is, the worse he is if he has no character, and does not do his duty to his family and to the State."

"I am here to tell you," he said, addressing himself to the body of teachers that formed a part of the audience, "that in bringing about recognition, you must cultivate the manly qualities that do not come from a desire for the mere strength of character, there is little that can be done with him. I want a man not only to be just to himself, but to see that one is unjust to him."

"I want him to feel that if another man touches him he would not think it would be a good thing to go home, at rather than he would make the other man stand back. If a war should come, I want them to make good soldiers to defend the country."

COLONEL ESCORTED BY CAVALRY TROOP.

Leaving his private car at noon, Col. Roosevelt was escorted by the Fifteenth Cavalry, U. S. A., to the Masonic temple where, for an hour, he received citizens of the town.

At the conclusion of the reception, Col. Roosevelt and party went to the State Hospital for the Insane, where his son was served. Later he received the military and other delegations in the parlor which had been arranged for his reception, headed by the famous band of the Sixteenth Regiment, which had been brought here from Fort Leavenworth.

In the occasion, the chief organizations in line consisted of the Fifteenth Cavalry from Fort Riley, of a company of state militia, of Grand Army veterans, and civic societies.

Then, going to the park outside of the city which was the scene of the famous battle of Cawatomie, Col. Roosevelt took part in the dedication of this ground as a state park named for John Brown.

WOULD "FLING OUT" CORRUPT PARTY MEN.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

LAWRENCE (Kan.), Aug. 31.—Oscar atomic bade Col. Roosevelt goodby at 4:10 p.m. when the big crowd followed him from the park to the train.

There was no delay at the station, and the party was soon on the way to Lawrence, via Ottawa.

Only one stop was made and that was at Baldwin, where Senator Bristow formally attended the Universalist Church.

The prominent made this an occasion of last-minute remarks that brought a smile to the face of the Kansas "insurgent."

"When I was looking for a man to investigate the insurance frauds, I found one in Kansas who could not be intimidated, on whom honest speech was no sine qua non," said Gov. Stubbs, after the colonel had finished his speech.

"This is the greatest speech Col. Roosevelt ever made in his life," he added.

Gifford Pinchot, former Chief Forester, made a speech after Col. Roosevelt had finished.

"This is one of the biggest moments in the history of the United States," he said. "We must drive the special interests out of politics," said James H. Garfield, former Secretary of the Interior, who made a speech after Mr. Pinchot.

WARM INTRODUCTION.

In addition to Gov. Stubbs, Mr. Pinchot and Mr. Garfield, all known as insurgents, Rep. George L. Madison and Senator Bristow and William Allen White three more insurgents, were on the same platform.

Gov. Stubbs introduced Col. Roosevelt. His speech was a warm endorsement of Roosevelt and Rooseveltism. He said:

"For centuries and ages men have dreamed of government that would restrain the strong and protect the rights of the weak. Our forefathers laid the foundation for such a government. Their conception was broad, clear and strong. Their plans have proved wise and practical during more than one hundred years of severe trial."

"The most serious problem that has arisen during our national life was the question of the power of the Federal government to maintain the Union. The slave trade complicated this question and the blood of martyrs who gave their lives from the country of liberty made the soul of this battlefield, where we now stand, sacred and the name of Kansas immortal."

"We are indeed fortunate to have in our presence a man whose name is known and loved by every class and nationality throughout the world who believe in government by and for the people; a man whose name is a synonym for liberty, justice and independence in private and public life, and whose power and influence for good is greater than any king of human rights and property rights."

SOCIALISTS ATTACK T. R.

Roosevelt Called "Political Drummer" by "Red" of the German Reichstag.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 31.—Former President Roosevelt came in for a ranking incident to the discussion of anti-militarism at today's session of the International Socialist Congress. Several speakers turned their guns on the American, the most militant branch of the congress, and a final member of the German Reichstag, who described him as a "political drummer."

Among other things Herr Ledebur said:

"He has forgotten that he represents a democratic nation whose existence was due to a revolution, revolution on him for joining the British rulers against Egyptian patriots."

On the general subject of anti-militarism, in view of conflicting opinions he said that the congress was in a

*Los Angeles Plans Refutation

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The State Board of Equalization is looking forward to the most interesting session of the year, when Los Angeles and San Francisco counties appear before its members today to answer citations upon their assessments. It is expected that the board might not increase or reduce the assessments made this year.

That the small property owners in the South will be swayed under pressure to accept the assessment of $72,000,000 difference between the figures of the county official and those of the State board, is the contention of the Los Angeles delegation. Backed by the tacit approval of their figures by Gov. Gillett, Los Angeles is on the ground prepared to present arguments why the assessments made by Assessors Hopkins should not be tampered with.

Col. George Black and Alex H. McLean are here to take up the reality men's side of the controversy. County Assessor Hopkins and his chief deputy, Wood, arrived last night and will be ready with his figures to back up their contention that the oil men have filled the bill to the utmost.

"Los Angeles has been taxed to the limit," said Col. Black last night. "Any further raise will have to be taken by the county. We have no money to give, we have confidence in the board and think it will do what is right by us."

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Grove L. Johnson, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for Assemblyman from the Second District, made a wide departure from the ordinary list of campaign expenditures, as known today, when he filed a statement in which he used the following explanation under the head of money spent on his behalf by other persons: "My wife expended some of my money." He did not know how much she was entitled to get from him.

Johnson's own name came to $239.60, consisting chiefly of advertising and printing, so the sum expended by his wife, he said, must be $239.60. The only amount of this sum must have covered most of the other incidents.

California Judge Holds Secret Organizations Are Injurious to High School Pupils.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—Declaring that the consensus of opinion among educators was that secret societies in preparatory schools were injurious to schoolmen, Superior Judge Howell sustained today the constitutionality of the state law forbidding high school students belonging to such organizations.

The suit in which this decision was rendered was brought as a test case and sought to compel the Board of Education to reinstate Miss Dorrie Bradford, who was expelled from the Girls' High School for refusing to resign from her sorority. The board pleaded that under the statutes its course was compulsory. This contention was upheld by the court in overturning the decree interposed by Miss Bradford's attorney.

THURSDAY MORNING

WIDE FIELD SPORTING NEWS, LOCAL AND TELEGRAPHIC.

DISSATISFACTION.

VERNON PRODS
SEALS AGAIN.

Beats Big Leaguer Sutor in Exciting Game.

Madden Surprises Fans With Bouncing Homer.

Carlisle Makes Great Throw from Score Board.

Vernon, 4; San Francisco, 5. Of course, one team had to win and it was the Vernons, but it is about a 1 to 1 bet that neither Hogan nor Mohler thinks that there was anything in the game but hard luck and each of them had all of it. Mohler declares his men lost the game because everything went against them and Hogan says the Vernons must have won easily if they had had a hit or two. That shows just about what kind of a contest it was and it means that the score was always close and each team was fighting for the lead all the way.

Vernon managed to grab off three easy runs in the first inning and this proved to be too big a handicap for the Seals in their early efforts, for they seemed to waste time in the eighth inning up when they did, in the ninth inning.

The Vernons smacked out three hits in their half of that inning and scored what proved to be the winning run.

"B" ERICKSON, 3; San Francisco, 2. Carlisle was batted in the first of the ninth but he was thrown on the bench and Brackenridge saved the game for him by hitting the Seals into a double play.

SEARCH FOR
"BIG" ASSETS.Postoffice Inspectors After
Get-Rich-Quick Concern.Offices, Capital and Men
Wanted Are Missing.Holcomb, Released on Bond, Still Has Firm Faith.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Postoffice inspectors today began a search for the disappeared "assets" of the Cooperative United Exchange, the $30,000,000 "get-rich-quick" corporation, whose antilisted plunger into the world of finance has been ruthlessly "nipped in the bud," when the postal authorities caused the arrest of William H. Holcomb, its vice-president and general counsel, also president of the Metropolitan Deposit and Trust Company, and vice-president of the Orange Blossom Mining Company, on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Any woman not married to a man of means is to be examined. Every woman may apply for examination.

TAX EXAMINATION.—It is a case in point. Moderate amounts. Terms can be had for appointment at W. sub. st. suite 107.

STOOGES ARE REsponsible in a number of chronic cases, women and children apply with it. There are new offices with related new offices.
Third and fourth
TAX EXAMINERS.—Tax examiners. MONTHLY
TAXES. FIVE DOLLARS
a month the men wanted could not be found.

HOLCOMB TALKS.

William H. Holcomb, the vice-president of the corporation, who was liberated by United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote on $5000 bonds until the preliminary hearing on September 3, today declared his faith in the integrity of the concern was still unshaken.

Elmer Comer of San Francisco, the president of the corporation, induced me to become an officer and I am certain he conducted a legitimate business, declared Holcomb. "Before that time I had held public office in California for fourteen years and was a practicing lawyer. When I was made an officer of the corporation I gave up my law business at San Diego and came to Chicago to assume control of the general offices. So far, the company has not sold any stock or carried out its purposes. We only incorporated in April and had not yet started yet."Holcomb displayed a pamphlet setting forth the intents of the company.It bore the legend, "Does everything everywhere everywhere all the time."Among its powers of attorney, its corporation papers the United Exchange has the right to operate automobile schools, sell railroad tickets, run airlines, operate railroads and telegraph lines, advertising, travel and warehouses, publish guide books and newspapers, operate detective business, theater and real estate agencies, promote expeditions, inventions and manufacturing enterprises, conduct exploration expeditions and nearly a hundred other forms of business activity.It takes 2000 words to enumerate all of its rights.

LOCAL OFFICE PICTURED.

So far the "palatial offices" of the concern, have dwelted into a little room in the Calumet building where Holcomb sits at desk now. The main office, which is in the "house," is a small roll top desk and a typewriter. The advertised picture of the interior of the offices turned out to be a view of the interior of the Southern Pacific Railway offices at Los Angeles, and the large painting of the "Southern California Sanatorium and Farm," a picture of a spot in the Yosemite Valley, according to the postal inscription.Elmer Comer, the head of the corporation, is said to be in San Francisco.

Head of French Catholic Sillon Society Writes Complete Submission.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Marc Sangier, the head of the French Catholic Sillon Society, the dissolution and reorganization of which was ordered by the Pope, has written a letter of complete submission to His Holiness, saying that the work for popular education of the 500 branches will be turned over to the hands of the church.Sangier adds, however, that he regrets the decision of the Vatican, as it gives the impression that the church is opposed to democracy, and announces that he will personally continue a democratic propaganda.

PEAL OF MODERNISM.

ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

ROME, Aug. 31.—The Pope, in resolving Signor Gentile II, president of the papal electoral union today, invited the peril of modernism in all countries and at all forms. The Pontiff said that he had done the greatest toleration in the matter of the society. Repeated complaints had been made by the French episcopate, which had declared that their doctrine contained errors and to all works for Christian democracy by false interpretation of the precepts of Pope Leo XIII.

BREVITIES.

It has been made to relieve the Sunday congestion, on account of being so numerous, but it has been impossible to judge the particular need of each, and the telephone up the office. Hence the unnecessary necessity of advertisers telephoning their announcements early in order to insure accuracy in transcribing and affording a full service in the Sunday Times.

There can be telephoned day in the week, with orders to be sent to them, and will take to see that all directions are fully understood.

RETRIBUTION. SPURNS BRIDE, SHE TURNS.

Scorned Woman Has Man Dragged Off Train.

Bitter Tears Quench Love; Law's Vengeance.

Lure of Great White Way Is Too Strong.

Michael W. Scanlon, formerly a bartender at the King Edward Hotel, is a prisoner at Yuma, with a charge of wife desertion hanging over him. He was taken off a Southern Pacific through-train he had caught after a sensational scene with his bride of three months at Arcadia Station in this city. If he will send her $100, the prosecution will be dropped, otherwise he will be extradited, with a fine chance of going to State's prison.

Scanlon and his wife, Margaret, a woman of 26, with large blue eyes, were married in New York three months ago. They came to Los Angeles about six weeks later, and Scanlon obtained a position at the King Edward bar, while the young wife worked in a downtown restaurant as cashier during the busy noon hour of each day.

The young couple took rooms at No. 755 West Fifty-eighth street, and their married life seemed to be as happy as happy could be.

Monday morning, Scanlon gave his with tickets to a theater and suggested that she take the landlady to a matinee. He said the landlady has been so kind to him that she should be right to show a little appreciation.

When Mrs. Scanlon returned home, she was dismayed by finding her husband's trunk and all his effects gone, together with all that was left of the sum she had when she married him.

Also, she found a note from her husband, telling her that he had gone to Seattle to obtain better wages. He wrote that he was sure they would hardly have the money to live on if he made this means of leaving her in order to avoid the sorrow of parting. He was, the note continued, that he would soon be able to send for her.

BITTER BUT VAIN TEARS.

Mrs. Scanlon, who loved her husband with all the devotion of a whole-hearted Irish girl, wept bitter tears through the night. The next day she telephoned to the King Edward to make a personal investigation. There, she learned that, on Monday, Scanlon had displayed a telegram which he boasted would take him back to "Little Ol' New York." via New Orleans.

It was late in the forenoon when Mrs. Scanlon made this discovery. A hasty consultation of a railroad time table showed her that a train left for New York at 12:01. Her heart beating fast with anxiety, Mrs. Scanlon hastened down to the Arcade.

At the railroad station, the distracted young wife almost bumped into her husband who was just preparing to take the train. Thrusting her arms about him, she begged him to stay with her in Los Angeles. He refused. She implored him, sobbing, to take her with him. He finally pretended to relent and asked her to meet him at the station a couple of hours later.

The wife knew that the train left at 12:01. Out of the corner of her eyes, she saw a man pass by at 12:01, and saw that it was the train about 12:01. She consented to wait for an appointment when she knew he had a railroad ticket in his pocket.

Wyeth, the officers say, was on a spree and had launched out on an extensive campaign with worthless checks. When he was turned over to the detectives at headquarters for further investigation, several checks, which he had signed and cashed with the name of the Rev. Mr. Murphy, were found on the Rev. Mr. Murphy.

Gardner, the coroner, said he had sold them, it is alleged, for the price of a few dollars.

Wyeth, who had been in the jail before an early morning, was locked up in the station with a pair of new shoes bearing the prisoner's name on the box. It developed that Wyeth, before visiting the Blumenthal store, and going to the Regal, where he bought a pair of shoes, paid for them with a bogus $5 check.

The check was executed so clumsily that it was presented to the bank without delay and pronounced a forgery by the teller. The Regal, however, sent a telegram to the police to trace Wyeth and his shoes. The shoes were found, with the help of the headquarters detectives, in a pawnshop on South Main street, where he had sold them, it is alleged, for the price of a few dollars.

Wyeth, who is said by the police to be a "boozey fighter," was picked up some time ago by the Rev. Mr. Murphy, whose kindly heart was moved by the young man's evident intelligence and his disreputable appearance.

Wyeth, ranking still further secondary over the clergyman when he said his father was an Episcopalian minister in Pittsburgh, and that he himself had been here, making a hard, but vain, effort, to obtain a position that would permit him to make his progress in life. The clever young man, however, about his husband's neck and refused to let him go. Passengers about the train, too, agreed to wait for him to make his progress in life. "Madam, if I were you, I would have this man arrested," he said.

Mrs. Scanlon looked up and down the platform, but there was not a policeman inside the inclosure, and the bell above the entrance rang.

Afraid of interference by the crew, Scanlon pretended to let the train start without him. Then, with a mighty wrench, he tore himself away from his train, and racing madly up to the train, caught the railing on one of the platforms and swung on.

LOVE AND VENGEANCE.

Hardly able to understand what had happened, Mrs. Scanlon watched the train through her tears until, then, with the advice of friends, she found her way to the District Attorney's office.

"I don't love him any more," she sobbed, when the complaint charging wife desertion was filed out and handed to her for signature. "I love the man I married so much, but he is not the man I married, not the ever, but only three months ago."

Scanlon was arrested late night before last as the train pulled into Yuma, Sheriff Livingston was waiting at the station, and the train crew seemed to take pleasure in pointing out the bartender to the officer.

Under a provision of the law making a felony of wife desertion, the complaint is dropped when the husband has deserted his wife sufficient funds to make sure of her maintenance. It was stated yesterday by the detectives that if Scanlon sends his wife $100 to pay her passage back to this morning, the installation of the furniture and fixtures was completed last night.

CONSOLIDATION DEFECTIVE? San Pedro Attorney Expected to Bring Suit to Set Aside Union of Municipalities.

Reports that Minor Goodrich, San Pedro attorney, acting for clients in the port region, would begin proceedings yesterday to set aside the consolidation of San Pedro, Wilmington and Los Angeles, were not verified by the filing of any suit at the County Clerk's office. It is announced that the action for annulment may be filed today.

City Attorney Shenk says he has information of the proposed suit and that he does not have the slightest fear of it. He says the alleged defect is the absence of an affidavit of the publisher of the San Pedro News that the consolidation election was validly made, and that the completed record does not show such proof of publication.

"When this affidavit was not found in the City Clerk's records," said Shenk, "the publisher was asked to furnish a duplicate. He refused to do so.

"He was told that the election notice was duly published in the San Pedro paper, and we have an affidavit from another source to that effect. The notice was published and was paid for like any other, and I regard it as proven that the publisher should return to furnish the city with an affidavit of publication.

"But even if we had no affidavits the law does not specify how proof shall be made, and if a court inquiry is asked, we will be abundantly able to satisfy the court that the law was fully complied with."

"Every one may rest assured that there is no danger of any defect that will vitiate the consolidation with San Pedro and Wilmington."

Confesses How He Planned to Loot Systematically.

With a bullet wound in his side, self-inflicted after he had been captured while trying to rob the Alvarado Hotel, Sixth and Alvarado streets, yesterday afternoon, Robert Freeman, 18 years old, was locked up in the City Jail with a charge of suspected burglary against him.

Freeman confessed trying to ran-sack the hotel. He told the officers he did it successfully a few days ago, and thought he could repeat the job and talk freely to Patrolman Hick,

This first robbery was easy. He entered the hotel in the afternoon, had no difficulty in getting into the rooms, saw the money lying about, took it, to the amount of $6.50, and left. Dressed as a chauffeur, he attracted little attention.

Yesterday afternoon, however, he said he planned to go at the thieving systematically. He met a friend at the Los Angeles Theater about three days ago, and they decided to join forces.

They were to meet in the hall on the second floor, going to the place separately. They were to go through the place unconcernedly, but as rapidly as possible, and make their exit by the front door.

YOUNG MAN GOES TO JAIL FOR SAKE OF FEW DRINKS.

Charged With Forging the Name of His Benefactor to Prolong His Spree, Minister's Son Is Quickly Caught—Strange Case of "Booze Fighter."

Charged with forgery, Norman A. Wyeth, private secretary to Rev. Charles T. Murphy, rector of St. Athanasius Church, Custer avenue, was arrested yesterday and locked up in the City Jail. A complaint against him was formally sworn out late yesterday afternoon by the manager of the Regal show store.

Wyeth, who says his father is an Episcopalian minister, was given a $500 loan yesterday by the Regal, and went to the King Edward at the request of Herman Blumenthal, the clothier at No. 239 South Spring.

Wyeth, the officers say, was on a spree and had launched out on an extensive campaign with worthless checks. When he was turned over to the detectives at headquarters for further investigation, several checks, which he had signed and cashed with the name of the Rev. Mr. Murphy, were found on the Rev. ## SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council Supply Committee will begin an investigation of the oil inspector's department this morning.

Judge Deby of Inyo county set a precedent in Judge Hutton's court yesterday, by excluding the public from an ordinary divorce hearing.

It is the first time the rule has been made in the state.

J. H. Gorin, charged with practicing optometry without a license, was released on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday by Judge Davis, on the ground that the authorities of Santa Ana had not proceeded against him within eight days of his arrest.

C. P. Blakemore of Long Beach bought he had been "jobbed" on a bill for repairing his auto, and brought it in the Superior Court yesterday to recover the machine or its value.

Police Judge Williams taught an interesting lesson yesterday by jailing his term of imprisonment from twenty days to six months.

Otto Werner was arrested charged with misrepresenting returns of a business which he sold to William P. Vogel.

J. B. Blackmoor, while starving, stole a bottle of milk and was arrested; a good-hearted police judge named heavy bail to enable Blackmoor to be provided for in the jail.

SPHERING JAUNT BY COUNCIL SUPPLY COMMITTEE.

Bekouski Fails to Explode His "Bomb" But Gains an Investigation of Blackmar's Department—Official Insists That All Inquiry Be Open to the Public.

An investigation of the department of inspection, city of Los Angeles, is to be begun this morning at 11 o'clock by the Council Supply Committee.

According to Oil Inspector Blackmar, who is being investigated, the investigation will be open to the world—particularly newspaper reporters," he asserts. The committee did not say whether it would be open or closed.

Blackmar was before the committee, which is composed of Councilmen Williams, Whiting and Bekouski, yesterday, prepared to have the committee explode his "bomb" under the oil inspection department. But no "bomb" exploded, and Blackmar was mildly informed of the proposed investigation yesterday. He declared he wanted an investigation but it must be thorough and fair. He asked ten days to prepare for it, but it was agreed that he could visit his office today at 11 o'clock and look over his books and records.

Some weeks ago the breach between Blackmar and Bekouski began when the Councilman criticised Blackmar for getting around the City Hall in a "politicized" way. Blackmar strenuously denied it.

His request for additional assistance has been held up by the Supply Committee for weeks and Tuesday Blackmar sent a demand to the Council that immediate action be taken.

In addition to his demands, Bekouski criticised Blackmar's official conduct and promised a "bomb" that would render the inspection department no longer necessary.

An investigation by Bekouski some days ago revealed, however, that Blackmar's office has collected only $15.50 a few in a year and that the innumerable hours for service to the county and highway commission, Bekouski says, will be able to show that the office needs.

MESSMER'S TROUBLES.

MANY SEWER CONNECTIONS.

Please to have one sewer connection, Joseph Messmer, who lives at Twenty-first and Pritchard street, is astonished to find that the generous man has supplied his home place with seventeen, and each of the seventeen is a "y" at its end.

Messmer is a member of the Board of Engineers. He lives in a beautiful forest hill and really needs one connection.

But the city engineer found the tract divided into seventeen lots each with about 100 feet frontage and he advised Messmer to cut out sixteen connections.

He is to cut out sixteen connections.

When the engineer came to California they were the same.

THURSDAY MORNING.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

ALL MEN WILL MEET TONIGHT.

New Producers' Association in the Limelight.

Difference of Opinion Is Coming to Front.

General News of Interest from Oil Fields.

In the assembly room of the Chamber of Commerce this evening at 8 o'clock there will be held another meeting of the Western Oil Producers Association. At the meeting last Thursday night an organization was formed by the addition of bylaws, but no adjournment was taken before officers could be elected. Neither was the Committee on Resolutions allowed to submit its report. Whether this committee will make its report tonight is at present a matter of conjecture.

Next Sunday there will be a meeting of California operators at Bakersfield to discuss the best means of presenting the present status of affairs to the General Land Office officials. It is not the purpose of the Bakersfield convention to take up the matter of conservation one way or another. However, the impression has gone abroad that the oil producers in organization in the Western Oil Producers' Association are in favor of the government's so-called conservation policy, or at least, the handling of oil and mineral lands on a leasing basis, and that will prevent unanimity of opinion on the work to be accomplished by the Western Oil Producers' Association.

It is a pretty safe prediction that the oil men of California who are operating on their own account will not turn over themselves in an effort to join the Western Association. At the meeting last Thursday night which was attended by almost 200 men, only forty-four signed the roll of membership. It was claimed that the interests of oil men operating on their own account and not the same as were the land is owned in fee simple, and therefore lies the reason for a difference of opinion.

While the meeting last Thursday night was adjourned till tonight for the arrival of the men from the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco and the North opportunity to be heard, it is very probable that an entirely distinct organization will be formed at Bakersfield next Sunday, composed exclusively of oil operators who believe their rights are being jeopardized by the present attitude of the Land Office officials in refusing patents to lands where discovery of oil was not made during the time of location notices.

One thing is certain—the Bakersfield convention has not been abandoned since the formation of the Western Oil Producers' Association.

INTEREST IN MEETING.

VIEWS OF THE OIL MEN.

CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 20.—Much interest is again shown in the meeting of oil men which has been called for next Sunday at the Board of Trade rooms in this city for the purpose of discussing the situation in West Side oil fields, where operators are threatened with the loss of their investments or withdrawal of government land through the recent decisions of the courts on leases of sections. The sentiment here is almost unanimous against any system of leases on oil lands.

Editorial Pen Points.

"Dr. Cook is headed north," says a dispatch. "Keep goin', Doc, keep gun!"

Nick Longworth still stands on the burning deck, whence all but him have fled.

We shall always have the Democrats with us. The party is a residuum. It is always "left."

A sunflower fifteen feet high is reported at Sawtelle. We did not suppose Kansans attained such a height.

A Cleveland justice has decided that picking a pocket is not a crime. But it is often a source of disappoinment.

Of course, the political remains of Korea will be cremated, with the ashes to be placed in an urn at the convenience of Japan.

Many cities disappointed in the census figures of 1910 are already beginning to blow about what they will certainly have in 1920.

Miss Democracy is showing much alarm over the evident disposition of the two wings of the Republican party to flap together.

Lieut. Peary is back in Washington and buying his ice just like the balance of the plain people. But it does seem a little hard.

Maine may go Democratic and Glenn Curtiss may fly across the Atlantic, but only youthful optimists are investing in either proposition.

The vote of the National Tailors' Convention to do no more free pressing, means that the creased trousers will soon go out of style.

Isn't it about time for the American heirs to those vast estates in Holland to get together and issue a monograph on their chances?

The American bank cashiers who are temporarily residing in Canada do not look with favor upon the proposition to annex that country to the United States.

"What is the measure of success?" was the subject of an address in Los Angeles the other night. To lead the Pacific Coast League in batting, we should say.

What has become of the little girl who used to recite "Willie and Annie's Prayer," "Curfew Must Ring Tonight," and "Ossie Joe," on all public occasions?

Roosevelt will travel through fourteen States and cover about 6000 miles. And there will be no limit to what the insurgent press will be able to read between the lines.

If the word of political peace that comes from Kansas is confirmed, it will be in order to move that the olive branch be made the State flower instead of the Sunflower.

Another section of the Panama Canal has been completed, and engineers predict that the big ditch will be completed before 1915. The Taft administration is doing things.

Why will serenading parties that cannot sing persist in mangling the sextette from "Lucia" every time they sail forth to split the night with their weird attempts at song?

Why is it that a woman has to dress up in finery to win a man? The men are not compelled to do that to get the eye of the average woman. Will some lady kindly explain?

The National Negro Business Men's League has declared for Roosevelt if he wants anything in the way of an office from the American people. How soon Brownsville is forgotten!

"Roosevelt Goes Through Omaha," says a headline in the esteemed Omaha Bee. What did he get, and where were the police? Probably watching the count between Gov. Shallenberger and Jim Dahlman.

Toledo, O., is all broken up because the census man did not give the city the population to which it thought it was entitled. Cheer up! You still have Brand Whitlock, the noble Mayer, in your midst!

This is the first month of the "r," which means the opening of the oyster season in the East. But in glorious Los Angeles we have the luscious bivalve in our midst the whole year round—provided we have the price.

It appears from the developments that the Democratic lawyers only milked the Oklahoma tribal fund for 50 per cent. of collections, while the Republican lawyers had to be satisfied with 10 per cent. But Democrats favor a tariff for revenue only. Hence the high price.

So far in his addresses to the people Roosevelt has insisted upon honesty in the public service; that rascals in public places shall be lashed naked through the world. We are all agreed on that proposition. There is no attack on the Taft administration in that rehearsal of civic platitudes.

VOTE FOR REPUBLICAN LEGISLATIVE NOMINEES.

At the present writing it appears that neither Mr. Spalding nor Judge Works is sure of having received an "advisory" endorsement for the United States Senate sufficient to elect either. Pluralities do not count in the Legislature, where a majority of the entire body is required to elect. If the Democrats should have a majority at the general election—which is not likely to happen if Republicans sink their differences—so far as the legislative candidates are concerned—California would labor in the Senate under the grave disadvantage of having one and possibly two Senators opposed to that protection which her citrus growers and her great and growing manufacturing interests need and demand.

Under the circumstances it would appear to be the duty of Republicans, whatever they may do or leave undone with respect to other offices, to vote solidly for the Republican nominees for the Senate and the Assembly, whether such nominees are regular or insurgent Republicans. Under the terms of the direct primary law a legislative candidate who was "advised" by a plurality of the voters of his district to vote for either Spalding or for Works, is at liberty to do so, or if the gentleman named by his constituents has received less than a majority of the advisory vote in the other districts, then he is at liberty, at his option, to cast his vote for the person receiving the largest advisory vote in the other districts. But if, in his opinion, the interests and wishes of his constituents would be better consulted by adhering to the candidate named by them, he may do so, although by doing so the election of a Senator may—as has been the case heretofore in the history of California and other States—be prevented altogether.

The "advice" given to a legislator to vote for a particular candidate for Senator resembles the special findings of a jury in an equity case. Those findings are made in legal parlance, "to instruct the conscience of the chancellor," and he has the right and power to disregard them and order a judgment in accordance with his own convictions of right.

If those Republicans who are "advised" for Spalding will not vote for Works, and those Republicans who are "advised" for Works will not vote for Spalding, it would then be the privilege if not the duty of the legislators to eliminate both of these gentlemen from the running and either prevent the election of a Senator altogether or else step out of the muddle and agree upon somebody for Senator, who, having some modest misgivings as to his ability to fill the office, or who, lacking the funds with which to pay for circulating petitions, had not been a candidate at all.

Therefore, brethren, let us all vote for the Republican legislative candidates nominated at the primary, even if they are branded as L.R. chatters, Stimson and Liessner, and take the chances of their ultimate action being patriotic and wise, for any Republican Senator, or any vacancy, will be better for us than a Democrat.

THE GREAT REFORM INFLUENCES. The Times a few mornings ago presented its readers with nearly a page of print showing the allotment of teachers to every common school in the whole city. It was a formidable array of the hands that bend the twigs and incline the trees of the future to stand in a perpendicular position.

Probably not one person who reads the Times scanned this whole list of teachers, and yet probably no department of the paper that morning was more generally looked to than the page telling what teachers were to preside over the different schools of the city. Paragraph by paragraph the parents or guardian or boy or girl looked to see what teacher was assigned to the school in that particular neighborhood. So the whole article, column after column, was read by very many of those interested in the schools.

There are three reformatory influences in the world. The first and oldest and best is the family. Any people without wholesome, intelligent, sound and honestly moral homes will never have honest politicians, will never have good government. In a community that has such homes, it makes little difference who makes the laws or what the laws are; they are making shirkers, incompetents, unfaithful, unreliable servants in whatever capacity they are employed.

The country that pays adequate attention to culture in the home, the influence of the church and the formation given to character in its schools, will be a progressive, prosperous nation; and without this attention no reforms will go far toward the elevation of the human race, the amelioration of the conditions of life, the making way for the millennium.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

The State is the head of a large family of which every city is a member. As in the human family, the interest of these members is mutual and interdependent.

Now how would a wise mother order her household? Wouldn't she, first of all, choose a neighborhood with a pleasant aspect, healthy position and moral influence? Wouldn't she carefully exclude from the sanctity of the home circle all perfidious literature, all unsound moral teachings and all doubtful company? Most of all, wouldn't she direct her own conduct and that of each of her children for the general good of the family?

Environment, precept, example—these are the three essentials, and the greatest of these is example.

Our good State-mother, California, has a numerous progeny of children cities, all varying in size, age and disposition. To their two eldest sisters, San Francisco and Los Angeles, all these children will naturally look for an example on which to model their own conduct. The State-mother has provided for her growing family the finest environments this earth affords; the purest of air and sunshine, unparalleled vistas of mountain and ocean, virgin soil and endless opportunities without stint or measure; everything good for the health and uplifting for the soul.

Very well; no fault to find with environment; but how about the second essential, precept—the guarding of her children against false teaching and bad companions? Take a look at the condition of our big sister, San Francisco. While Dame California was hospitably opening her gates to all comers, into the secret parlor of this eldest daughter crowded a most undesirable company: specious time-seekers, glib-tongued ne'er-do-wells, truculent trouble-breeders; she became the prey of quacks, charlatans and impostors whose pockets were as empty as their heads. They created grievances and then fashioned fake remedies to cure them; they sold their nostrums for imaginary diseases; they diligently sowed discord in the family. Before long San Francisco became too impoverished to support so large a band of parasites, so the parasites began to turn their attention to other members of the family.

The generation of men that are controlling things in America from one end of it to the other today are the product of the homes, the churches and schools of the other day. Those who will follow us when we all sleep in the dust, and fill municipal, State and national offices, will be the product of the homes, the churches and the schools of today.

Every one of those hundreds of teachers who preside over schools or classes all through the city of Los Angeles for the next ten months will, besides making the bankers and merchants of future years, be making the law-givers and administrators of the law just the same. While they are teaching arithmetic and the use of language, to cast up accounts and reckon interest, they will also be enlightening the minds of the pupils to see into facts, to analyze conditions, to judge, properly or improperly, of the tendencies, influences and effects of everything they do.

Every wrong impression made upon the mind of every boy and girl in the schools of Los Angeles during the next ten months will be reflected in the found no bed of roses here, no flowery road to affluence; but stinging nettles very uncomfortable to handle and thorns sharp enough to penetrate even their thick hides. Los Angeles had enjoyed the fruits of work with freedom, had tasted the sweet cup of prosperity, won as such sweets always must be by persistent, individual effort; she had no intention of exchanging old lamps for new.

The conflict is not yet finished, but the end seems certain. In her refusal to keep company with the discarded riff-raff of San Francisco, Los Angeles is not only working out her own salvation. She is setting an example for all the sister cities of the great mother-State, San Francisco included. She is furnishing a wholesome tonic to counteract the nauseous effects of imposition, charlatanism and self-seeker.

The environment of California is—and always must be—wholesome. It is God-made and eternal. As for the principles of slavery which have for a time run riot in the precincts of the Golden Gate, the example of one brave young city in the South will certainly combat successfully all such malignant influences in the household of the mother-State. At least, it will if Los Angeles rises to the height of her present possibilities.

RIGHT PLACE FOR STAR-GAZERS.

Southern California people who happened to be outdoors Tuesday night, or rather Wednesday morning, from midnight until sunrise, must have been deeply impressed with the beauty of the side-real heavens. There was not a speck to obscure the atmosphere, and the stars shone with all the brilliancy of an intensely cold winter night in our old homes in the Northern States. In a frosty sky the stars, while exceedingly bright, appear in a diminished diameter to the human eye. The stars in the California sky on Wednesday morning loomed as bright as could be and they seemed to be almost double in their diameter.

ASTRONOMERS HEAR DR. HALE.

Reads First Paper at Session of Solar Union.

Treats of New Discoveries of Sunspot Spectra.

Scientists See Sunrise and Discuss Pine Trees.

When Prof. Arthur Schuster of Manchester, Eng., called to order the first session of the International Union for Cooperation in Solar Research on Mt. Wilson yesterday morning, he faced a remarkable assembly.

It was a gathering of learned men, scientists who have attained eminence in their profession, many of them being authorities, who have devoted a lifetime to the study of the heavenly bodies.

It was remarkable also from the fact that it is the largest number of astronomers that have met at one time. There was nothing sensational about the opening of the session. Nothing could have been more formal, but to the layman there was something appalling in the concentrated wisdom of these observant men, whose lives have been passed mostly in solitude, their minds filled with calculations far beyond the ken of men who follow lowlier pursuits.

A study of the faces of these astronomers reveals the look of brooding philosophers, the peering eye, often half-closed, the deliberate movement of their hands, a decision in the tones of the voice. Silent for the most part, not counting an opportunity of airing their views, these men—can with the brilliance of their thoughts and the sureness of their conclusions—have made observations on common things.

All of them are students. They come to learn: Each has been a discoverer. A mighty field is spread before them which is continually furnishing something new. And it is the hope of every one that this session will furnish a new thought, a new method or a discovery.

Prof. Edward C. Pickering was selected to preside over the Solar Union yesterday. The secretaries elected were Prof. Pierre Puisieux of the Paris Observatory, representing the French astronomers; Prof. M. Konon of Moscow, for the German astronomers; and Prof. J. S. Adams and Harold D. Babcock, for the English tongue.

Today Dr. W. W. Campbell of the Lick Observatory will be chairman of the session.

DR. HALE'S PAPER.

The first paper yesterday was read by Dr. George E. Hale, of the Mt. Wilson Observatory. It was enthusiastically received. He spoke of the excellent work done by the Solar Union since its organization, both in stimulating investigation and the quality of work done.

His special subject was "Standards of Wave Lengths," a title which sounds like a technical term, but it was handled with such skill with black-and-white illustrations, that he held the close attention of his auditors.

Dr. Hale described the new methods introduced into this research by the splendid equipment of the solar observatory. His subject, however, was not the most important discovery connected with sunspot spectra.

Prof. Heinrich Kayser of the observatory at Bonn, who has done very notable work in solar spectroscopy, followed Dr. Hale and an animated discussion resulted.

The session yesterday was very interesting and paved the ground for the real work of the Solar Union, and the papers of tremendous import which are to be read and discussed.

The astronomers arose early yesterday morning. Long before the break of day, the procession wended its way along the mountain path which led to the bold outposts toward the East.

The crescent moon and brilliant Venus just below, seemed suspended in the air a short distance above the summit of Old Baldy. A succession of ridges, in the early morning light, appeared like the frozen billows of a vast ocean.

The scientists stood silently drinking in the scene. Presently, an exquisite crimson light tinged the mountain crest and the sun sprang up almost in unseemly haste, vivifying the wide sweep of landscape.

A magical sight that lures the most stolid nature from his couch and fills the brain of the dullest mortal toimentary ecstasy.

STUDYING THE PINES.

An excellent opportunity was afforded to study the characteristic features of the venerable pines which stand like sentinels along the winding roadway leading to the Solar Observatory building, whose white walls gleam through the thick foliage.

The astronomers indulged in animated discussions as to the age of these pines, and poked among the roots which were wound around the granite boulders, their tentacles penetrating the rock, seeking to feed on the disengaged chemical particles stored by the weathered surfaces for their sustenance.

It was a study that cheered these emigrants and whetted their appetites, until they returned to the hotel and fell to like trenchermen of old. And on the way to the observatory hall they chattered almost like ordinaries over the glorious sunrise and the grieved landscape.

SAM MUST GO BACK.

Colonial makes no defense to charge of being unlawfully in this country.

Sam will go back to China. Yesterday he had his hearing before the Federal authorities, was adjudged to be unlawfully in this country and was ordered deported. He offered no defense.

This Sam was taken into custody on August 1 by the immigration officials who informed that he had come into the country in defiance of the exclusion law. He could produce no papers and did not even try to justify his presence here.

Sam Kong, another son of Flory Kong, was suspected of having been seized on border tumultuous. He and his unprovenance name is kept by his own counsel and declines to make any statement to the officers. The trial for his hearing has not been set.

MY TRIP AROUND THE WORLD.

BY SYDNEY FORD.

NO. XXIV.

PARIS, Aug. 1—I arise to inquire with considerable apprehension, what has become of the great American husband and father? He is not in evidence here, although his wife and daughters are. I counted in one corner of the hotel dining-room last night twenty-five women and just two men; they were clergymen who had been sent as delegates to the World's Missionary Convention recently closed in Edinburgh.

"I've been in this hotel two months," said a benevolent-faced old gentleman, "and there's been some women to one man here all summer. A party of thirty-three arrived in sight—all women—and last week one man came with a personally conducted excursion of thirty-six women. Well, yet they haven't their rights. Well, yet they seem to get most of the fun, anyhow."

Can it be possible that the above is a fair percentage of men represented in the 150,000, more or less, American citizens that the steamship companies declare they have transported hither this summer? I strongly suspect that the reason is that the name of America does not Americanize our men during the entire passage home, wondering what their bill for duty will be and flighting the customs officers and smugly their souls trying to smuggle.

Skirt Skink.

I believe I have already mentioned in a previous letter the shrinking tendency of skirts. The number of silhouettes in human form which you meet on fashionable Parisian promenades each day is something appalling. My first caution on arriving was this:

"Look out for the motor cars and omnibuses. They'd rather run over you than not, you know, because the effect in Paris is that the victim is never the chauffeur."

But supposing they are killed? "They couldn't find the remains, could they?"

"Oh, in that case they charge it to the estate," was the reply.

Coming from the quiet of old Nuremberg, where I had been down the Rhine and the sacred glories of the cathedral at Cologne, this plunge into the galetas of Paris was something like a shock. It is as much as one's heart can bear to think that the bullet entering the middle of the back and passing through the body, missing the spinal column very narrowly. Chavez is a jilt bird of a very bad reputation.

Mr. Hitchcock's trip to the Southwest is mainly one of recreation, there being no truth to the stories that have been circulated concerning the establishment by him of any central recruiting machine for the purpose of carrying the Territory into the national convention. However, he is interested as chairman of the National Republican Committee in whatever pertains to the success of the party in any locality.

He is returning to the States via the railroad, probably by way of Southern Arizona.

At Jerome last night, N. B. Chavez was seriously wounded. Police Captain Charles King, whom she shot from behind, the bullet entering the middle of the back and passing through the body, missing the spinal column very narrowly. Chavez is a jilt bird of a very bad reputation.

Col. J. F. Wilson, at one time representative in Congress from Arizona, has just finished a twenty-day fast in which he brought his weight down from 240 to 208 pounds.

The ice and refrigerating plant installed by farmers at Camp Verde, the center of the peach-growing area, is proving a success in preserving the crop of peaches and other fruits, which heretofore mainly went to waste owing to lack of transportation facilities. This year's peach crop in the Verde Valley is large and of good quality. W. W. Wilson is assisting the farmers to establish a canning factory—the first in Northern Arizona.

Keen for Customers.

The shrewd French merchants are keen for the patronage of Americans and experienced shoppers tell me that prices have never been so high as this year. Taking advantage of the fact that an unusually large number of Americans are tourists, even this year, prices have gone up accordingly. I met one particularly irate woman yesterday on the Rue de la Paix, the fashionable thoroughfare where the most exclusive shops are found.

"I've been coming out here every summer for years," she said, "and there is one particular hairdresser to whom I always go. Last summer I had a shampoo there for 75 cents. Yesterday I went there and took with me three friends and without asking the price we proceeded to have our heads shampooed. What do you suppose the bill was? You wouldn't believe it, but I'm telling you the actual truth, when I declare that it was exactly 100 francs—$20—Twenty dollars! TWENTY DOLLARS for those four shampooos! Think it five DOLLARS each! We were some afraid that we paid it. We ought to have appealed to the American Consul."

One of the newspapers over here has a habit of publishing a list of hotel arrivals. In common with several hundred other Americans, my own name appears on the list, and I am sure that my arrival in Paris. The next morning the concierge of the hotel handed me a package of a dozen or more envelopes which had come to me through the mails. I imagined that it was a parcel delayed, or lost in the post office. Upon opening my batch of letters, I found every one of them, with one exception, was from some mercantile firm here calling my attention to various lines of goods. There were several from ladies' tailors and dressers, some from men's tailors and drapers, trouble to write a list of the names of women from my own city who were their regular patrons. There were cards from jewelry houses, from picture shops, from a music company, from nail salons, from Turkish baths, from beauty parlors, and so on. Upon the 13th, after I had written to the American Consul, I received a like batch. This illustrates how keen the Parisian shopkeeper is for custom.

It was a study that cheered these emigrants and whetted their appetites, until they returned to the hotel and fell to like trenchermen of old. And on the way to the observatory hall they chattered almost like ordinaries over the glorious sunrise and the grieved landscape.

doubtless be its doom as none but extremists will seriously consider it. Already it has been modified by the introduction of a slit on each side of the skirt, allowing the necessary fullness at the bottom and permitting comfortable locomotion.

Bugs, Butterflies and Beetles.

If you cannot afford to buy a hat this fall, my sister, content yourself with a hairpin. The new ones are larger than to afford quite sufficient protection to the hair. They are almost as much as the hat itself. There is a perfect rage for bugs, beetles and butterflies in these gorgeous hairpins. I saw a beauty in a shop on Rue de l'Opéra, the other day, for $1. It was a button of mother-of-pearl, cut so thin that its gauzy, glittering wings were transparent and showed all the exquisite iridescent tints of the shell. Sequins and semi-precious stones decorated the wings and outline the body of the butterflies.

There is a certain economy in possessing yourself of one of these lovely winged butterflies for it can be put to a double purpose. With truly French taste, a butterfly or beetle is screwed onto the end of a long hairpin and may be taken off at will and attached to a gilded hairpin and used to wear in your hair for the theater, opera or evening function.

When used as pins, they dispense with other ornaments, so simple are they. Hardly less profitable, though, are the strong linen values that will be out today.

HITCHCOCK ON HIS VACATION.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL ARRIVES AT PRESCOTT.

Has Attended Moqui Snake Dance and Has Enjoyed Game Hunting in Northeastern Arizona—Other Notables Accompany Him—Jail-Bird Shoots Jerome Policeman.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Aug. 29.—Postmaster-General Frank H. Hitchcock arrived this morning, coming from a trip to the Moqui snake dance, and from a hunting trip in Northeastern Arizona, wherein he was accompanied by Congressman Ralph H. Cameron, Lorenzo Hubel of New Mexico, and National Committeeman Cecil Lyon of Colorado.

Mr. Hitchcock's trip to the Southwest is mainly one of recreation, there being no truth to the stories that have been circulated concerning the establishment by him of any central recruiting machine for the purpose of carrying the Territory into the national convention.

He is interested as chairman of the National Republican Committee in whatever pertains to the success of the party in any locality.

He is returning to the States via the railroad, probably by way of Southern Arizona.

At Jerome last night, N. B. Chavez was seriously wounded. Police Captain Charles King, whom she shot from behind, the bullet entering the middle of the back and passing through the body, missing the spinal column very narrowly. Chavez is a jilt bird of a very bad reputation.

He is recovering from the effects of a scorpion bite, the sting penetrating his cheek as he rolled on the floor. Death came within two hours.

Col. J. F. Wilson, at one time representative in Congress from Arizona, has just finished a twenty-day fast in which he brought his weight down from 240 to 208 pounds.

The ice and refrigerating plant installed by farmers at Camp Verde, the center of the peach-growing area, is proving a success in preserving the crop of peaches and other fruits, which heretofore mainly went to waste owing to lack of transportation facilities. This year's peach crop in the Verde Valley is large and of good quality. W. W. Wilson is assisting the farmers to establish a canning factory—the first in Northern Arizona.

Keen for Customers.

The shrewd French merchants are keen for the patronage of Americans and experienced shoppers tell me that prices have never been so high as this year. Taking advantage of the fact that an unusually large number of Americans are tourists, even this year, prices have gone up accordingly. I met one particularly irate woman yesterday on the Rue de la Paix, the fashionable thoroughfare where the most exclusive shops are found.

"I've been coming out here every summer for years," she said, "and there is one particular hairdresser to whom I always go. Last summer I had a shampoo there for 75 cents. Yesterday I went there and took with me three friends and without asking the price we proceeded to have our heads shampooed. What do you suppose the bill was? You wouldn't believe it, but I'm telling you the actual truth, when I declare that it was exactly 100 francs—$20—Twenty dollars! TWENTY DOLLARS for those four shampooos! Think it five DOLLARS each! We were some afraid that we paid it. We ought to have appealed to the American Consul."

One of the newspapers over here has a habit of publishing a list of hotel arrivals. In common with several hundred other Americans, my own name appears on the list, and I am sure that my arrival in Paris. The next morning the concierge of the hotel handed me a package of a dozen or more envelopes which had come to me through the mails. I imagined that it was a parcel delayed, or lost in the post office. Upon opening my batch of letters, I found every one of them, with one exception, was from some mercantile firm here calling my attention to various lines of goods. There were several from ladies' tailors and dressers, some from men's tailors and drapers, trouble to write a list of the names of women from my own city who were their regular patrons. There were cards from jewelry houses, from picture shops, from a music company, from nail salons, from Turkish baths, from beauty parlors, and so on. Upon the 13th, after I had written to the American Consul, I received a like batch. This illustrates how keen the Parisian shopkeeper is for custom.

It was a study that cheered these emigrants and whetted their appetites, until they returned to the hotel and fell to like trenchermen of old. And on the way to the observatory hall they chattered almost like ordinaries over the glorious sunrise and the grieved landscape.

STUDYING THE PINES.

An excellent opportunity was afforded to study the characteristic features of the venerable pines which stand like sentinels along the winding roadway leading to the Solar Observatory building, whose white walls gleam through the thick foliage.

The astronomers indulged in animated discussions as to the age of these pines, and poked among the roots which were wound around the granite boulders, their tentacles penetrating the rock, seeking to feed on the

THURSDAY MORNING.

IN THE LAST DITCH.

Sympathy Is North's Plea.*San Francisco Argues for Special Consideration.*Believes Los Angeles Took Advantage of Misfortune.*Attorney Kuster Argues Rate Case Brilliantly.

In a last despairing effort to hold the trade of the rich San Joaquin Valley, San Francisco yesterday made its appeal to the sympathies of the State Railroad Commission, which is hearing final arguments in the rate case. Attorney Seth Mann concluded his statement with reference to the San Francisco fire and the suggestion that Los Angeles is seeking to maintain an undue advantage secured through the misfortunes of the northern city.

He mentioned the matter in unctuous tones of profound regret. A note of silent sadness sounded through the quiet courtroom, stirred by the inflections of a voice modulated to the serenity of the offense that was being discussed.

"We can but take cognizance," said Mr. Mann, "of the fact that chronologically this case seems to have a significant relation to the disaster suffered by San Francisco. When a sister city lay stricken by fire the merchants of Los Angeles found their way north as far as Fresno, and since that time they have been reluctant to give up the advantage they secured."

Today the Los Angeles attorneys will have a chance to reply and to call attention again to the fact that long before the San Francisco fire Los Angeles was demanding an equalization of rates to the San Joaquin Valley. The railroads' original rates were not begun before the Railroads Commission itself after a reduction had been made by the railroads, published in their tariffs and then withdrawn at the instance of the San Francisco Merchants' Exchange.

Attorney Edward Kuster occupied nearly five hours yesterday in making his argument for a reduction of the Los Angeles rates. When he concluded the attorneys and railroad officials interrupted the proceedings to congratulate him upon the splendid effort he had made. He told the California railroads situation and the evidence that had been taken during a period of six months at various hearings, in a manner that left no point uncovered and thoroughly and clearly established the grounds upon which his plea is made.

He argued that it is to have the burden of proof shifted to Los Angeles merely because San Francisco has appeared as an intervenor. He asked the commission to consider the facts established in evidence that San Francisco enjoys a lower rate to San Joaquin Valley than Los Angeles, and that no proof has been offered to justify the difference by additional cost of operation in the South. Under such conditions, he maintained that the railroad must assume the burden of showing why the Los Angeles rates are higher.

Mr. Kuster then chased the San Francisco representatives out upon a limb and cut the limb. They have set up the claim, "he said, that they enjoy an advantage in water rates, and this would give them a forced or less reasonable rate. They have made no plea that they are discriminated against in favor of Los Angeles, which would suggest that their present water-compelled rate is too high. Mr. Kuster moved point by point how he had argued that the railroad rates must be based on mileage and competition, with cost of operation as a sort of overriding factor. He illustrated the mileage discrimination in favor of San Francisco, and reviewed the evidence showing that cost of operation is not more in Los Angeles than in Bakersfield, when it is better than San Francisco and Bakersfield. This reduced the problem to one of competition.

Attorney Loeb followed Mr. Kuster and shattered the theory of water discrimination on the San Joaquin River. He elicited from the attorney derived from the testimony of the Stockton witnesses, that the water rates are being held down by the railroads.

In the afternoon Attorney Mann summed up the case of San Joaquin Valley, put out a theory which would give San Joaquin a natural advantage of two to one in the San Joaquin Valley rates, figuring the cost of haul from the North at about half that between Los Angeles and Bakersfield. He equated the rates and said that Bakersfield is further from Los Angeles than it is from San Francisco.

The hearing will be concluded today. Attorney Neumiller, representing the stockton jobbers, will present a brief argument. Attorney Durbow for the Pacific will make the defense of the railroads to the demand for lower rates from Los Angeles, and will not support the San Francisco contention that it is discriminated against. Attorneys Kuster and Loeb will close the case which will then be ready for the decision of the Railroad commission.

GRAIN GOES TO STORAGE.

Receiving Season Starts at Kings County Warehouses With Rather Large Deliveries.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.—HANFORD, Aug. 21.—The receiving season at the local grain warehouses has only begun, but it is estimated that no less than $100,000 worth of grain is already in storage in Hanford and that the total sum of sacks now contained in the warehouses of Hanford, Lemoore and Visalia combined is no less than $200,000. Buyers state that wheat is worth $1.60 a hundred pounds to the farmer and barley $1.10.

Three carloads of thoroughbred horses, cattle, swine, poultry and fowls were shipped today by local shippers to Sacramento for exhibition at the State Fair. Last year every exhibitor from Kings county captured a number of prizes and this year a number expect to duplicate their success. The exhibitors combine the shipment of their stock. A large amount of Kings county literature will be distributed at the State Fair, including premium lists of the Central California Fair, to be held there in October.

The county's prohibitionists held their convention in Hanford Saturday. Delegates to the State convention at San Jose, a new Central Committee and Executive Committee and independent prohibitionists were present for "California Dry" in 1911. The new Executive Committee is composed of A. R. Baxter, chairman; A. Courtney, secretary; W. McGehee, treasurer. The Kings county fair of dried fruits for exhibition at the Administration Day celebration in San Francisco September 1 will be shipped next Tuesday.

morning. The fruit will be distributed free among the thousands of visitors and will make up a part of the general exhibit of the San Joaquin parlors of the Native Sons of the Golden West. The valies will be represented by three appropriate floats in the big parade. The display of orchard and vineyard products is expected to eclipse anything yet attempted in that line.

News of the secret wedding of Miss Lettie E. McCourt, former Hanford girl, to Leo Demers, an Oakland and Sacramento business man has just leaked out. The wedding occurred at Salinas on the last day of July, but even their most intimate friends were unaware of the nuptials. They will reside in Oakland.

The El Cerrito Oil Company which drilled a well in this county to a depth of about 4000 feet and struck a dry hole has ceased operations and is preparing to abandon the well and selling the materials.

Judge J. F. Covert has returned from his vacation, and next Monday Sessions of the Superior Court will be resumption after a summer adjournment of about two months.

Considerable activity in railroading is reported locally. A Hanford packer says that he is buying heavily at a price close to three cents and the price will go to and above 3 cents. Picking will begin the last of this week.

THE POLITICAL WATCHTOWER

Things Goo-Gooish seem shaping for a head-on collision between T. Editor Gibbons of the Democratic silk-stocking limited, and Boss Lissner of the Republican insurgent special. I understand that Engineer Gibbons has threatened to run his train kermess into the Lissner machine unless the latter will stop and pick up some of the Democratic members who were ticketed for passage over the Goo-Goo line at the November election. In other words, Gibbons purposes to beat Lissner over a barrel by demanding that the new Republican boss send the word of his hand, disregard the pledge of his Saturday's convention, support all the Republican nominees at the recent primaries, and, instead, to scratch Fredericks for District Attorney, Craig and Wood for the Superior Court, and to do several other things that, it is alleged, were agreed upon in the pre-primary pact between Gibbons and Lissner.

Unless Lissner agrees to this, I am informed that T. Editor Gibbons will unhook his handy bottle of vitriol and spread the contents thereof broadcast daily until election time; that he also means to use his influence to the good of his party so as to influence the Good Government Organization of Lissner to make it sell indifference to the Woolwine for District Attorney, W. T. Harris for Sheriff, Albert Lee Stephens for Superior Judge, and A. C. Pratt for Coroner. One of the moves to this end is seen in the establishment of Democratic campaign headquarters in rooms one floor above those occupied by the Good Government organization in the Fay building.

Should Lissner permit the G. G. O. to induce the Democratic candidates for office, who, before the primaries, were ticketed for passage over the Goo-Goo line at the November election. Now what do you think of that?

Speaking of Grover L. Johnson, he is a candidate for the Assembly, although he was defeated for the Republican nomination in the Seventeenth District, which is wholly within the city of Sacramento. A provision of the new primary law permits the name of any candidate to be written on any ballot. The names of Johnson and of Charles B. Bliles, his opponent, were printed on the Republican ballot, and both names were written on many Democratic ballots, but Bliles led in the Republican count, and in the scattering Democratic votes that were polled. Bliles had his home in the lone Prohibitionist voted for Johnson, and he became the nominee of that party. Johnson has been in the Legislature off and on, since 1877, and also served one term in Congress.

Los Angeles County—Correspondence from Its Cities and Towns.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.
CHEAP "JUICE" BEGINS TODAY.LOWER ELECTRIC RATES ARE NOW IN EFFECT.

Municipal Plant Will Supply Service for Five Cents Per Kilowatt Hour, While Edison Concern Will Go a Cent Lower—Name Water Committee.

PASADENA, Sept. 1.—Beginning this morning the householders of Pasadena will use what is undoubtedly the cheapest electrical energy ever supplied to any city in the country. The maximum price will be 4 cents per kilowatt hour and will be given by the Pasadena plant of the Southern California Edison Company. At the same time the Municipal Lighting Plant, which belongs to the city, will begin furnishing juice at the rate of 5 cents per kilowatt hour.

For that matter, either rate is cheaper than is enjoyed by any other city on the Pacific Coast. The reason for the low prices is the rate war which is now in progress between the city's plant and the Edison concern. The city has made three-year contracts with all its consumers, which assures the cheap rates for at least three years.

While the cheap rates are gratifying to every user of electricity and the rates in several cities are displayed to do nothing which might in any way disturb the very satisfactory cost of juice, many people are displeased at the condition of affairs so far as the public is concerned.

In a publication statement made yesterday, Manager Koenig of the municipal plant stated that the loan of $15,000 made on Tuesday from the general fund to the municipal lighting plant is not sufficient to get the plant "out of the hole." The amount will be increased another $15,000 more and then some. He stated that he did not want to ask the Council to call for another loan for $60,000 or $70,000 but preferred to get the money from the general fund which is provided for by direct taxation. His winds up his statement by saying that there will be considerable expense connected with the plant this year and that probably of the borrowed money will not go back to the general fund for one time, probably two or three years.

"In other words," said a banker last night, "until the plant gets to making money and lots of it the municipal will have to always be in debt to the city. It is the life of the life me I cannot see how the plant can come to make money at its present rates. Last year with 2000 subscribers by addition to the city lighting the average got out even at 7 cents but now proposes to make money by double the number of subscribers 5 cents."

FOR WATER COMMITTEE.

The directors of the Board of Trade will hold a meeting either tonight or tomorrow night for the purpose of selecting the committee of twenty-five to be known as the Board of Trade Water Committee. Many prominent men who were associated with municipal affairs, as well as with the water situation will be asked to serve, although no intimation has been made as to the personnel of the committee.

It is stated that the principal delay in appointing the committee has been occasioned on account of the fact that officers of the Civic Association have been invited by the Board of Trade to cooperate in the matter of the water situation. The civic leaders had body asked for a few days ago, hoping to get an answer from the Los Angeles Water Board as to the prospects of Pasadena getting a share of the Owens River water. The water, as yet, has not been given. The members of the Civil Association are glad to be discouraged and will probably decide to cast their lot with the city in an effort to bring about harmony.

"I cannot understand why the Civic Association would ever expect to favor the Water Board officially, anybody," said a man yesterday who is very familiar with the workings of the city government. "Board of Trade is not an official organization. If an answer was given to us it should be made to the City of Pasadena. But the city's ambassadors were told in unmistakable terms that the Water Board was in no position, at present, to make any promise to Pasadena, as far as a share of the water was concerned. It will not be until the water is available.

In those circumstances it is likely to talk about Owens River water at this time. For my part, I say that if we have to wait longer for an answer, we have to wait until we have our distributing system, and up to foolish jangling."

URGES AGAINST BLUNDERS.

A delightful affair of last night was the dedication ceremonies of the new business college in the new letters, No. 44 East Union street. The place occupies the entire second floor. Rental rooms are equipped for various branches of the work. The girl's program was an excellent one, consisting of several delightful musical numbers, as well as addresses. Prof. A. L. Hamilton, superintendent of the Pasadena school, delivered an interesting address along the lines of education in practical business work.

The principal address of the evening was delivered by Dr. Norman Edge, who is in part a boy who has a chance to get an education in any line should take advantage of it. There are two classes of educators. One says that education branches which cannot be used to us. The other class says that education is good and will be beneficial to the student. I believe, however, that every boy and every girl could take up the particular branch of education which is the most interesting to them. The business college was started in the United States, great progress has been made by

The knowledge gained in a business college is practical and useful, and a glad to see that progress has been made in these colleges, and the graduates of this college will fully benefit from the busy commercial life, and they must study and work hard in order to make a success of their lives. One of the worst things with people is the defects of those who think they are educated. It is the small things, such as correct spelling, punctuation, capitalization

A large number of accidents have happened to children who use roller skates on the sidewalks this summer. Donofrio's court yesterday morning, the officers found that the complainant was not in court. The jury was impaneled and the trial was adjourned. Mrs. Cole did not appear. A messenger was hurriedly dispatched and she sent back word that she had just arrived at the last moment. She had concluded her visit on account of the unfavorable notoriety she would get. The case against Walton was dismissed.

The houses will be built in tiers of six each and each will contain two rooms, a kitchen and bath and can be equipped with modern conveniences. Los Angeles and Long Beach men are interested in the new venture.

Edward Bartlett, aged 18, of Los Angeles, who is visiting here for a few days, while riding a door at a local hardware store, became so frightened before the machine could be covered and subsequent attempts to stop it were not successful. It is thought some one who had stolen the door had dropped it overboard.

SAN BERNARDINO.

BUMPS BUGGY.
BREAKS SKULL.*MOTORCYCLIST VICTIM OF SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Electors of the Rialto Irrigation District Reject Proposal for Dissolution and Transferance of indebtedness to the Citizens' Water Company of Bloomington.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 31.—Charles Gibson, motorcyclist, 17-year-old son of F. C. Gibson, division manager of the Santa Fe, is in the Rancho Hospital having been injured last night in a collision with a buggy, just north of Colton, on Colton avenue. It was a head-on collision. Gibson sustained a fracture of the base of the skull, besides many severe cuts and bruises.

At the time of the accident, E. G. Maher was riding tandem on the motorcycle. He was thrown some distance and rendered unconscious. The occupants of the carriage, H. E. Vorhees and H. L. Gibbs, escaped injury.

James Easterton, a Redlands motorcyclist, also collided with a buggy late last night. The collision was head-on. Easterton was thrown from the machine and painfully injured. The carriage was partly wrecked and the horse injured.

REJECT DISSOLUTION.

By a vote of seventy-one to fifty-four the electors in the Rialto Irrigation district rejected the proposal to dissolve the district and transfer the indebtedness involved in bonds to the Citizens' Water Company of Bloomington. The outstanding indebtedness amounts to at least $150,000, covering 700 acres in the district, which extends from the Santa Fe tract at Rialto into Bloomington.

The vote means that the bond holders, N. W. Stowell and others, will remain in the state against the district, which have been held in abeyance pending the outcome of the election. A number of the land holders in the district contend that the bonds are invalid, and propose to fight the bond suits into the highest courts if necessary.

FINDING MISSING HEIR.

Charles Lucke, missing heir in the Lucke estate, has been found by Attorney J. W. Stephenson serving six months in the army barracks at Fort Meade, to absent himself U. S. Phillips without leave. More than a week ago Lucke's father died, leaving a $5000 estate.

The will left all the estate to the son provided he returned within three years after his father's death. Failing to return, the estate was to go to Hiram D. Stoddard, an old friend of the deceased.

For two years the attorney has been hunting the missing heir.

The Board of Supervisors today voted unanimously to purchase the Maggison ranch, consisting of 110 acres near Sheep Station, for the new County Hospital, Detention Home and other county charitable purposes. The land is held at $45,000 or $436 an acre. A bond issue will be necessary to secure the required funds for making the purchase and erecting the building.

The present County Hospital has been condemned by several grand juries on account of its being close to the Santa Fe shops, and it is where the noise continues day and night, working a severe detriment to patients in the hospital.

Print Works on Construction of New Church at Calexico—One Kind of Vacation.

CALIFORNIA, Aug. 31.—Imperial Valley has a Catholic priest who is taking his vacation time to put in from ten to twelve hours of manual labor on a church building he is erecting at Calexico. This priest is Rev. Edward Schmitt, who is spending his first summer in Imperial Valley, but who has not let the heat frighten him away. From the labors he planned for the summer season. He recently had a son-in-law appear at the office of Justice of the Peace Pfeiffer, and exhibited a marriage license, legally authorizing the wedding of Chavez, aged 20, and the señorita, aged 23. Pefito and Chavez appealed to the magistrate for a legal marriage, something of that sort, and an officer. They would bring the obstinate young lady into court and marry her whether or no.

The justice decided that it was not within his province to attempt to compel any woman to change her mind on matters matrimonial, and Pefito and Chavez went forth chagrined and disappointed. On their return to the plaza they found the Señorita Magdalena had sought safety in flight.

Official Announces Political Propaganda Will Spread Among the Country's Defenders.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The Socialist party is to make special effort during the next two years to make converts among the officers and men of the United States Army, according to Edward F. Cassidy, general organizer.

"There was for some time a question whether those who were not members eligible for membership," said Mr. Cassidy in a statement issued here by "National" Secretary J. M. Barnes has carefully gone over the question, however, and finds there is nothing to exclude them.

The prospects of converting many more men to socialism are very bright. Groups of socialists stationed in the Philippines and a number of army officers in other places have recently sought membership and are anxious for a cooperation with party members in general in promoting a national agitation in the army for socialism."

She secured her decree. Wood became insane several months ago, and when officers came to take him in charge took refuge in a culvert half filled with water, where for several hours he put up a desperate fight, finally being overpowered after he had received severe injuries. The Woods were married at Marysville, Mo., in 1898.

"There is no unrest among the Japanese in Hawaii, although it is true many of them are ex-soldiers. Not a single trouble from this source is to be found in America. We are closely observant. It is my understanding that the four Japanese convicted for conspiring to stir up labor trouble were afterward pardoned by the government, which I believe was a wise and just act."

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 31.—[Ex-completion of the Mission tunnel through the Santa Ynez Mountains is swept aside when the citizens of the city today cast a vote favoring issuing of bonds amounting to $1,000,000 for that purpose.

The total vote stood 1,227 for and 204 against, equaling six to one. With the money the tunnel, which is now nearly miles into the mountain, will drive the remaining miles within next ten months, and then the city of Santa Barbara will be using water from the Santa Ynez River, fifteen miles away. The sum stated has already been spent. By the time the work is finished, the dams are completed, it is expected the investment will reach
